Making Progress On Town History

Dr. Claude M. Fuess, former headmaster of Phillips academy, is making much progress on the history of Andover which a town meeting about two years ago commissioned him to write.

In answer to a letter from Roy E. Hardy, chairman of the board of selectmen, Dr. Fuess says that the first nine chapters have been typed and are being circulated among a small group of historians to be read critically.

He expects the history to be completed before the town meeting of 1953.

DAD

Sometimes he's stern but always he's fair and understanding.

Day in and day out he leaves the house without fanfare to earn what it takes to keep our home the pleasant place it is.

When emergencies arise, he's always ready with the fast buck, though he may grumble a bit.

Manly, he's not visibly emotional but on occasion the composed exterior gives way to the warmth and pride that hides beneath.

Whenever the going gets tough and problems arise, whether they be personal or a family matter, he is our bulwark against evil fortune.

He gives us courage by just being Dad.

Dear God, don't ever let us take him for granted.

What's "in the works" at G. E.

HEAD OF THE MEDICAL SERVICES at the River Works is Doctor Robert C. Thompson of Swampscott. He says, "all G-E employees should come to the Dispensary no matter how minor the injury. Immediate attention often stops the spread of infection."

EXCELLENT MEDICAL ATTENTION is available for all G-E employees. Shown here is Mary McAllister of Lynn, Technician in the X-ray room at the West Lynn Works' Dispensary.

GENERAL  ELECTRIC

THE LESS BUSINESS
WE DO HERE
THE BETTER WE LIKE IT!

But We're Ready For Any Emergency

This modern, completely equipped G-E Dispensary is one place where we don't like to be busy. But it is comforting to know that we have highly skilled medical people — five doctors and other members of the staff including technicians and medical attendants right at local G-E plants — right on hand in case of emergency.

In addition, G. E.'s Medical Division has all the latest equipment necessary to help 25,000 local G-E employees to better health — such equipment as modern infra-red lamps, diathermy machines, whirlpool massage units, and X-ray machines. Mostly we care for on-the-job cuts, bruises and colds, but, for emergency use, there's even a complete operating room far better equipped than that of many small hospitals.

Just as important as caring for emergencies, the local G-E Medical Division performs many functions to prevent sickness and the spread of infection. Every new employee has to have a thorough medical examination before working at G. E. In addition, chest X-rays are available to all employees. What's more, whenever an employee is out sick for two weeks or longer, he is checked by the Medical Division before returning to work.

All these precautions help keep General Electric a mighty healthy place in which to work — a primary reason why "G. E." means "Good Employment".

LATEST EQUIPMENT —
A brand-new, fully equipped ambulance is the pride of the River Works Medical Division — insures prompt medical attention for an injured or sick employee.

RIGIDAIRES - LUGGAGE

A Rugged Job

The next President, whatever his name and party label, will be in for a rugged time.

The United States News & World report recently dealt with some of the things the new President will face. Here, in capsule form, is the gist of what the magazine anticipates for him:

DEBT. Soon the national debt will touch the $275,000,000,000 legal ceiling. The President will have to choose between asking congress to raise that ceiling or cut the spending.

WAR. It seems certain that the Korean War will still be going when he takes office, even though it may be relatively passive. What will he advocate to end it?

BUSINESS. Many economists think that the boom is running down. Next year, it is forecast, there will be a substantial decline in industrial expansion. There will probably be a drop in profits — and that will bring a drop in tax collections, making the budget problem still more difficult. The ranks of the unemployed will be swelled. All this may happen very soon after the next President moves into the White House.

BUREAUCRACY. The President is the titular boss of 6,200,000 people — 2,500,000 civilians and 3,700,000 military. This huge payroll is one of the primary causes of our outsize federal budgets. And here again the next President must make a difficult decision. In the view of U.S. News, "If he does not cut the payroll and the functions of the government bureaucracy, his financial troubles will grow. If he does cut the payroll, some people will be out of jobs, raising political fuss, and if he cuts functions some group or region will lose a good thing and also will raise a political fuss."

These aren't all of the problems the beleaguered next President will face — not by a long shot. And great problems we can't even anticipate today may also be his. But they serve to indicate the enormous and unavoidable burdens that are part and parcel of what is accurately described as the biggest job in the world.

Adventures In Man's First Plastic, Knaggs.

This is fascinating, a story of an industry as old as man himself—the world's natural waxes and the part they played in history. Here is the lost wax process, changed little during the past 3000 years.

The Art Of Leadership, Tead.

Nature and aims of leadership and the ways in which results are best secured by supervisors, executives and leaders of action in many fields of business and civic life.

Ornaments And Designs, Placek.

Over 1250 original illustrations for artists, teachers, and students of crafts in fabrics, tile, rug, wall paper design, embroidery, leather, glass, etc.

Geography Of Hunger, de Castro.

Mass hunger affects two thirds of the world, and is man-made, says the author. He refutes the theory that starvation is result of overpopulation, and claims that malnutrition is a factor leading to overpopulation.

Two-Thirds Of A Nation, Straus.

This deals with rental housing of all kinds and emphasizes needs of middle income families, the dangers of government-assisted promotions that are entirely inadequate, and the need for developments based on dispersal and lowered density of population.

Prisoners Are People, Scudder.

The California Institute for Men at Chino was established in 1940 as an experiment in penology. Hand-picked, better risk convicts from San Quentin and other penitentiaries in California are put there to run a 2600 acre ranch with few restrictions.

New Hopes For A Changing World, Russell.

Russell examines the three basic conflicts of life — man and nature, man and man, and man and himself. He shows how our outworn ideologies can be changed into a serene and mature way of life.

Police Dept. On Job 24-Hours Daily

Information has reached police headquarters that many people in town, some of them newcomers, are under the impression that there are times during the day and night that the department is not working.

Chief George A. Dane wants this impression corrected. The department is on the job 24 hours every day. At times the man in charge of the police station may have to leave on an emergency and leave the door locked, but any visitor may summons the officer on duty in the square by pressing a button at the right of the door.

Anybody having business at the police station, who may find the door locked, can summons an officer in a few moments time by sounding this buzzer.

TRADE BOARD PLANS

VERY ACTIVE YEAR

Interesting statistics about Andover and outlined the activities of his division in the commission, particularly the manner in which it assists various communities to secure new industries.

At the close of his talk he answered several questions concerning local problems.

In discussing some of the reports of the past year it was brought out that on several occasions outside organizations and groups had approached the president to secure his approval for soliciting funds here but upon being told that they would have to obtain approval of the solicitations committee, were heard of no more.

It was voted to prepare solicitations cards for each member to display in his place of business, and it was decided to have Raymond B. DeRuisseau, advertising manager of The Townsman, lay out a membership card for window display.

In relinquishing his office Mr. Hill, first president of the board, thanked all for their support and urged all to continue their attendance at future meetings.

Mr. Heseltine, the new president, briefly outlined some of the matters the board might take up and announced that the members could expect a very active year.

COLE RETURNING TO FIRE DEPT.

from the Andover fire department. It is our considered judgement that the townspeople of Andover, whom we represent, feel that the activities of the civil defense agency should be restricted to a reasonable minimum, and for that reason we feel a full time director is not required."

Discussing this action, which was taken at the June 2 meeting of the selectmen, J. Everett Collins, secretary of the board, said that there are only six full time civil defense directors in this area, which embraces about 40 towns and cities, and only 15 full time directors in the entire state.

It is expected that the office will be operated on a voluntary or a part time basis, although no definite plan has yet been reached. The selectmen will meet again Monday and still have until June 30 to complete their plans.

Upon his return to the fire department July 1, Cole will assume his former duties as deputy chief now being performed by Acting Deputy Woodrow Crowley. The latter will return to private and the provisional appointment of Charles Gray, who was acting in Crowley's place, will be terminated.

Plan Improvements At St. Augustines

Plans for alterations and the re-decorating of St. Augustine's church in preparation for the centenary observance next October were announced Sunday by the Very Rev. P. J. Campbell, O.S.A., pastor, who has called a meeting of a large committee for Friday night to launch a campaign to raise funds for the project.

The alterations will include the construction of two new exits at either side of the altar. Professional decorators will be engaged to redecorate the interior of the edifice.

The cost of proposed improvements will be about $35,000 and that is the sum the campaign committee will set as its goal.

Fr. Campbell also announced that the parish is growing so fast that it seems necessary to have an additional Mass on Sunday. This will mean rearrangement of the hours for the present Masses to allow for a fifth one but no change has yet been announced.
